PRIVACY POLICY

Ball is committed to protecting any personal information that you may provide to us. In particular, we believe it is important for you to know how we treat information about you that we may receive from this Web site.

Information Collected

In general, you can visit this Web site without telling us who you are or revealing any information about yourself. Our web servers do collect and log the domain names and IP addresses of visitors to our Web site. However, we do not routinely collect visitors' email addresses.

There are portions of this Web site where we may need to collect personal information from you for a specific purpose, such as to provide you with certain information you request. The information collected from you may include your name, address, telephone, fax number, or e-mail address. In addition, certain affiliates of Ball may allow those wishing to apply for employment to submit resumes and cover letters to the Human Resources Department for consideration. By submitting this information, you expressly consent to the use of this information by Ball and its affiliates in the employment selection process and for related purposes. Ball will use this information only for employment purposes and will handle this information in accordance with its Human Resources policies. Information submitted will not be returned to the applicant and will be retained by Ball.

This Web site is not intended for persons under 13 years of age. We do not knowingly solicit or collect personal information from or about children, and we do not knowingly market our products or services to children.

Use of Collected Information

Domain name and IP address information that we collect is not used to personally identify you and instead is aggregated to measure the number of visits, average time spent on the site, pages viewed, etc. We use this information to measure the use of our site and to improve the content of our site. When other information is collected from you, such as your name and e-mail address, we generally let you know at the time of collection how we will use the personal information. Usually, we use the personal information you provide only to respond to your inquiry or to process your request. This information may be shared with other Ball businesses, but only if necessary to fulfill your request or for related purposes.

We may share the personal information you provide with other companies we have hired to provide services for us. These companies are contractually bound to use personal information we share with them only to perform the services we have hired them to provide. Except as set out in this Policy, we do not share, sell, or lease personal information about you to any third-parties for their marketing use. We will release information about you if you direct us to do so, if we are required by law to do so, or in other legally limited circumstances. In addition, we may use a technology called "cookies" to provide you with tailored information. A "cookie" is a set of data that a web site server stores on your computer. Cookies enable web sites to recognize your computer and to "remember" your entries as you move from page to page, or even when you revisit the site from time to time using the same computer. You may set your browser to notify you when you receive a cookie.

Links to Other Sites

Ball's Web site may contain links to other sites. While we try to link only to sites that share our high standards and respect for privacy, we are not responsible for the content, security, or privacy practices employed by other sites.

Security of Collected Information

We maintain commercially reasonable physical, electronic, and administrative safeguards to protect your personal information from unauthorized or inappropriate access. We restrict access to information about you to those Ball workers who need to know the information to respond to your inquiry or request. Workers who misuse personal information are subject to disciplinary action.

Access to Collected Information

You may review and update the information that you submit to us through this Web site by contacting us as described below.
